

Mountaineering Skills for KMC Members

April 4, 2014

After chatting with Peter about club member goals, we have come up with some courses for this summer to further develop member and leader skills and confidence on hiking and mountaineering trips.

The Day Mountaineering Skills Series is for people interested in acquiring or refreshing very specific mountaineering skills. It is a 1, 2 or 3 day series where participants can choose from various skills. Whether you are interested in a specific skill or want to tackle the 3 day series, you will learn modern mountaineering skills from qualified instructors in a safe environment.

The Navigation Skills Weekend is for hikers who are interested in learning how to prepare for a day or overnight trip, prepare a detailed trip plan and be competent in knowing where they are both on and off trail using both maps and terrain features in the field. This program is best done is two days, covering both classroom and outdoor sessions.

If interested in joining or have questions, please get in touch with Miranda or David, see contact information below. To register, please fill out an online registration form or print off copy and bring or mail to the office, see <http://summitmountainguides.com/booking/> Full payment in advance is required, please review cancellation policy carefully, see booking page.
